THE CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD
AUGUST A. BUSCH III

On October 30, 1989, August A. Busch III was named chairman of the board of the St. Louis Cardinals, succeeding his father, the late August A. Busch, Jr.

Mr. Busch is also chairman of the board and president of Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc., positions he has held since 1979.

Mr. Busch started his career with Anheuser-Busch in 1957 in the malt house. Since that time, he has worked in virtually every department of the brewing and operations divisions at the company.

In 1963, Mr. Busch joined the company's marketing department, working in the field with Anheuser-Busch wholesalers. After returning to St. Louis, he was promoted to assistant sales manager - regional brands and subsequently was named sales manager - regional brands with responsibility for the marketing of Busch beer.

In 1972, Mr. Busch was appointed vice president - marketing operations for Anheuser-Busch, Inc., and was named to the company's board of directors. Successively, he served as general manager, executive vice president and president before being named chairman of the board of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., in 1975.

Under Mr. Busch's leadership, Anheuser-Busch has significantly widened its leadership of the brewing industry while effectively diversifying into non-brewing enterprises. In 1992, the company's beer and other subsidiary operations earned record sales.

Mr. Busch's impact extends well-beyond the Anheuser-Busch Companies. In 1980, he spearheaded a drive to raise funds to build a new facility for the Mathews-Dickey Boys Club of St. Louis, a self-help organization serving the black community.

In 1982, Mr. Busch was named the United States Olympic Committee's "Sportsman of the Year" and was also presented with the City of Hope "Spirit of Life Award." In 1983, he accepted the Mexican American Legal Defense and Education Fund (MALDEF) Award for Corporate Social Responsibility on behalf of the company. Mr. Busch was named St. Louis "Man of the Year" in 1987.

Mr. Busch is president and a member of the executive board of the Boy Scouts of America St. Louis Council; a member of Civic Progress, Inc.; chairman of the advisory board of the St. John's Mercy Medical Center and a member of the board of directors for the United Way of Greater St. Louis.

In 1989, Mr. Busch was honored by accepting the 1989 Corporate Responsibility Award presented by the Martin Luther King, Jr. Center for Nonviolent Social Change, Inc. to Anheuser-Busch.

During a special ceremony at the White House in 1989, Mr. Busch and the company were honored by President George Bush for its commitment to the Hispanic community. Also in 1989, Mr. Busch was named "Man of the Year" by the St. Louis Variety Club.

PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER
STUART F. MEYER

Stuart F. Meyer became president and chief executive officer of the St. Louis Cardinals on January 1, 1992, replacing Fred L. Kuhlmann who was named vice chairman of the board.

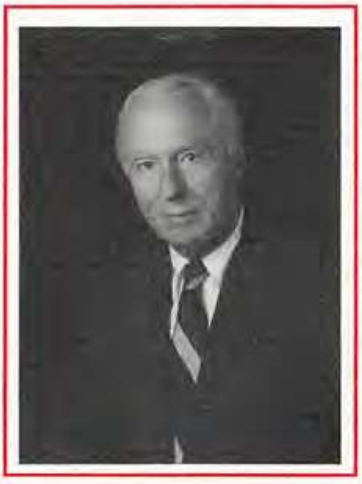
Meyer has been employed in various capacities with Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc., the parent company of the Cardinals, for 35 years. Beginning in the legal department, he rose in the organization to Vice President, Corporate Human Resources and a member of the company's policy committee. He joined the Cardinals as executive vice president and chief operating officer in March, 1991. Meyer also serves as president and chief executive officer of Civic Center Corporation, the Anheuser-Busch Companies subsidiary which owns and operates Busch Stadium.

A lifelong resident of St. Louis, he has been a St. Louis Cardinals fan since boyhood. His first real remembrance of the Cardinals was watching them defeat the old St. Louis Browns in a 1944 World Series game.

Meyer attended St. Louis University High School and St. Louis University, from which he received A.B. and J.D. degrees.

Meyer and his wife, Doris, are the parents of five children - Catherine Jones, Barbara Ashley, Elizabeth Carter, Russell Meyer and Patricia Norton. They are also the proud grandparents of Timothy and Kelly Jones, Bryan Ashley and Kristen Carter.

VICE CHAIRMAN
FRED L. KUHLMANN



Fred L. Kuhlmann retired as president and chief executive officer of the St. Louis Cardinals on December 31, 1991, and currently serves as the club's vice chairman of the board.

Kuhlmann held the title of president and chief executive officer from October 30, 1989 until his retirement in December, 1991. Kuhlmann joined the Cardinals in 1984, when he was named executive vice-president and chief operating officer. Prior to that, Kuhlmann was executive vice-president and a member of the policy committee at Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc., the parent company of the Cardinals.

Kuhlmann's interest in the Cardinals dates to his boyhood, growing up in the vicinity of old Sportsman's Park. That interest in the team intensified when he became an officer at Anheuser Busch.

A native of St. Louis, Kuhlmann attended public high school prior to entering Washington University, from which he graduated with A.B. and J.D. (law) degrees. He also received an L.L.M. (Masters) degree from Columbia University in New York.

Kuhlmann was a senior partner in a prominent St. Louis law firm prior to joining Anheuser-Busch in 1967 as general counsel. Subsequently, he was promoted to executive vice president, policy committee member and vice chairman of the board of directors of Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc. Kuhlmann retired from Anheuser-Busch in December, 1983, but still serves as vice chairman of the board of directors and as a consultant to the company.

In addition to his position with the Cardinals, Kuhlmann is chairman of the board of Civic Center Corporation, the Anheuser-Busch Companies subsidiary which owns and operates Busch Stadium and other properties in the downtown St. Louis area. He also serves on the boards of charitable organizations.

Kuhlmann and his wife, Mildred, are the parents of two children, Mrs. Marilyn K. Brickler and F. Mark Kuhlmann.

VICE PRESIDENT / GENERAL MANAGER
DAL MAXVILL

Dal Maxvill returned to the St. Louis Cardinals organization as general manager on February 25, 1985, dedicated to the same ideas that guided him as a player on three St. Louis pennant-winning teams in the 60s. Maxvill's primary goal was to produce a winning, exciting team for Cardinal fans.

Maxvill came through for the fans of St. Louis in 1985, just like he had done so many times while playing in the 60s. He oversaw his second pennant-winning club in three seasons during '87 after continually being faced with the task of supplying the club with healthy players during the injury-riddled season.

A native of Granite City, IL, Maxvill was an outstanding infielder during his 14-year major league career, 11 of which were spent in a Redbird uniform. During those 14 campaigns, Dal was on four World Series winning teams.

In 1978, after a brief stint away from baseball, Maxvill joined the coaching staff of the New York Mets. He returned to the Cardinals as a coach during the 1979-80 season.

In 1982, Dal became the third base coach of the Atlanta Braves, a position he held until his appointment as general manager of the Cardinals. Dal is the "dean" of NL General Managers in consecutive years of service.

The 55-year-old Maxvill and his wife, Diana, are the parents of four children — Kathy, Danny, Jeff and Tim. Kathy is the mother of Kelli and Kyle, the Maxvill's grandchildren.

VICE PRESIDENT / BUSINESS OPERATIONS

In December of 1987, Gorris was named vice president of finance and administration, coordinating all financial and administrative functions for the team, including negotiations of the Cardinals' television contracts.

A native of St. Louis, Gorris received his B.S.B.A. degree from Washington University and his M.B.A. from St. Louis University.

Gorris and his wife, Diane, are the parents of three children, Austin, Andrea and Alissa.

THE MANAGER

JOSEPH PAUL (JOE) TORRE (9)

Joe Torre is entering his fourth full season as the Cardinals manager. Last year Torre helped guide the club to a third place finish in the National League East with a 87-75 record. Since he retuned to the organization where he spent six outstanding seasons as a player,Torre has posted a managerial record of 278-266.

Torre broke into the major leagues with the Milwaukee Braves in 1960 and saw limited action. The next season, he finished second to Billy Williams for N.L. Rookie of the Year honors with a .278 batting average. In 1964, and again in 1966, Torre became the first big league catcher since 1955 to bat over .300, hit at least 20 home runs and drive in 100 or more runs.

The Braves moved to Atlanta in 1966, and Torre introduced himself to the South by smacking the first regular-season home run in Atlanta's Fulton County Stadium history on April 12, 1966. His 36 home runs in 1966 remains the Braves' record for catchers.

The Cardinals acquired Torre for Orlando Cepeda on March 17, 1969. Torre played both first and third base for St. Louis and won the N.L. Most Valuable Player award in 1971 and the N.L. batting title with a .363 average. He also led the National League with 230 hits and 137 RBIs during the '71 campaign.

On October 13, 1974, the Cardinals traded Torre to the New York Mets for Ray Sadecki and Tommy Moore. Torre was named the player-manager of the Mets on May 31, 1977, becoming the first N.L. player-manager since the Cardinals' Solly Hemus in 1959.

His playing career ended only 18 days later, when Torre became a full-time manager. He retired with a .297 batting average, 2,342 hits and 1,185 RBIs. His 252nd and final home run came as a pinch-hitter on April 13, 1977, off St. Louis' Clay Carroll.

Torre earned many honors as a player, including nine All-Star game invitations. He was named to The Sporting News All-Star team as a catcher five times, three of those consecutive. Torre also caught Warren Spahn's 300th victory.

Torre spent five years as the Mets' manager and accumulated a 286-420 record. In 1982, he was named the Atlanta Braves' manager, and guided them to their first divisional title in 13 seasons. Torre was named the Associated Press Manager of the Year in 1982 and he is still the only person to have received both N.L. Most Valuable Player and A.P. Manager of the Year honors.

Torre left the Braves after three seasons with an impressive 257-229 record. He spent the next six years as a television broadcaster for the California Angels.

On August 1, 1990, Torre was named manager of the Cardinals, following Whitey Herzog's resignation.

Joe, 53, resides in St. Louis with his wife, Alice. He has three children: Michael (29), Lauren (28) and Tina (25). Torre was born on 7/18/40 in Brooklyn, NY and graduated from St. Francis Prep School in 1958.

Major League Baseball and it's 28 clubs will celebrate the 125th anniversary of professional baseball in 1994.

The First professional baseball team, the Cincinnati Red Stockings, was formed in 1869. Prior to that, the game was played on an amateur basis only.

As part of this year's festivities, MLB Properties has designed a special 125th Anniversary logo. The logo is a variation of the Major League Baseball logo created for baseball's centennial celebration in 1969.

Throughout the season, MLB and the clubs will celebrate the Anniversary through various events and ceremonies. Teams will wear a commemorative patch on their uniforms and specially licensed merchandise will be available.

THE CARDINALS' WORLD SERIES STORY YEAR-BY-YEAR

1926 The Cardinals defeated the Yankees, four games to three, to win their first world championship. Grover Cleveland Alexander, obtained by the Redbirds in a midseason trade with the Chicago Cubs, won the second and sixth games, then came on to save the seventh.

1928 Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig paced the Yankees to a four-game sweep of the Cardinals. Ruth hit .625 for the Series and had three home runs in one game, and Gehrig had a .545 batting average. Four of Gehrig's six hits were home runs, and he had nine runs-batted-in.

1930 Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Cardinals, four games to two, as the Redbirds hit only .200 and the Athletics .197. Cardinal victories were scored by Bill Hallahan, 5-0, in the third game, and Jesse Haines, 3-1, in the fourth.

1931 The Cardinals got revenge on the Athletics, defeating Philadelphia, four games to three. Pepper Martin, the Wild Horse of the Osage, paced the Redbirds, stealing five bases, collecting 12 hits and hitting .500. Bill Hallahan and Burleigh Grimes each pitched two victories for the Cardinals.

1934 The "Gas-House Gang" won the National League pennant on the final day of the season, then defeated Detroit in the Series, four games to three. Dizzy and Paul Dean, who combined to win 49 games during the regular season, each won two games over the Tigers. The final game of the Series, won by the Cardinals, 11-0, was marked by Commissioner K.M. Landis order to eject Joe (Ducky) Medwick from the game. Medwick had collided with Tiger third baseman Marvin Owen in the sixth inning, and his actions so infuriated the Detroit fans that they bombarded Ducky with fruit, vegetables and debris when he went to his position in left field in the seventh inning. Landis removed Medwick to halt the disturbance.

1942 The Cardinals lost the first game of the Series to the Yankees, then roared back to win four straight. Rookie pitcher Johnny Beazley won two games; lefthander Ernie White shut out the Yankees in the third game, and third baseman Whitey Kurowski hit a decisive triple in the second game, then clinched the finale with a two-run home run in the ninth inning.

1943 The Yankees evened their World Series record against the Cardinals at 2-2 as they defeated the Redbirds, four games to one. The key play of the Series occurred in the third game. With the Cardinals holding a 2-1 lead in the eighth inning, Johnny Lindell crashed into Whitey Kurowski at third on a sacrifice bunt and jarred the baseball loose from Kurowski's hand. Billy Johnson then tripled to drive in three runs, the Yankees went on to score five times in the inning and Manager Joe McCarthy's powerhouse coasted to victory. The New York Yankees also won the next two games to take the championship.

1944 In this only all-St. Louis World Series, pitching dominated and the Cardinals defeated the Browns, four games to two. The pitchers struck out a record total of 92 batters, 49 of them by Cardinal moundsmen and 43 by the Browns' hurlers. Emil Verban topped Cardinal hitters with a .412 average.

1946 Harry (The Cat) Brecheen won three games and the Cardinals topped the Boston Red Sox, four games to three. With the score tied 3-3 in the last half of the eighth inning of the seventh game, Enos Slaughter singled, then scored all the way from first on Harry Walker's hit to left center, a sprint that surprised relay man Johnny Pesky of the Red Sox and allowed Slaughter to score the winning run.

1964 A team victory for the Cardinals, who defeated the Yankees, four games to three. Bob Gibson won two games; Ken Boyer hit a grand-slam home run to win the fourth game; Tim McCarver, who topped Cardinal hitters in the Series with a .478 average smashed a 10th inning home run to win the fifth game, and Ron Taylor and Roger Craig contributed valuable relief help.

1967 Bob Gibson pitched three complete-game victories and Lou Brock put on one of the finest offensive displays in World Series history as the Cardinals defeated the Boston Red Sox, four games to three. Gibson limited the Red Sox to only 14 hits in the three games, and Brock topped all Series hitters with a .414 batting average. Lou also set a Series record by stealing seven bases, and Roger Maris hit .385 and drove in seven runs, a Cardinal Series record.

1968 The Cardinals had a three-game-to-one lead, but the Detroit Tigers stormed back to win the last three contests and claim their first world championship in 23 years. Left-hander Mickey Lolich, a motorcycle enthusiast who played in the shadow of 31-game winner Denny McLain all year, was superb for the Tigers as he won three games, including the 4-1 finale. Bob Gibson won two games for the Redbirds, and set records by striking out 17 batters in the first game and a total of 35 for the Series, breaking the mark of 31 he set against the Yankees in 1964.

THE CARDINALS' WORLD SERIES STORY YEAR-BY-YEAR (CONTINUED)

1982 The Cardinals came back from a 3-2 deficit in games to defeat the Milwaukee Brewers and bring the World Series Championship Trophy back to St. Louis for the first time in 15 years. Joaquin Andujar nailed down two victories and posted a 1.35 ERA while Bruce Sutter was credited with one win and two saves. John Stuper became only the 14th rookie to start two World Series games, winning the crucial sixth game for the Redbirds in a rain delayed contest that took five hours to complete. Dane Iorg batted .529 and tied a series record for most hits by a designated hitter. Rookie Willie McGee turned heads by hitting two home runs and making two spectacular catches in one game. Darrell Porter was named MVP on the strength of his timely hitting and solid defense.

1985 The Cardinals won the National League Championship series after losing the first two games to the Los Angeles Dodgers, then taking four straight games (the final one climaxed by a 3-run, 9th inning homer by Jack Clark). In the World Series, they won the first two games on the road at Kansas City, then lost four of the next five games when their hitting deserted them. The pitching of John Tudor and Todd Worrell took the first game, and Terry Pendleton's ninth inning double with the bases loaded gave them a 4-2 victory the next day. Kansas City won its first game, 6-1, behind Brett Saberhagen, then lost Game No. 4 to Tudor, 3-0. Danny Jackson stopped the Redbirds, 6-1. Key game was No. 6, when the Cardinals carried a 1-0 lead into the ninth inning. The first Kansas City man up in the ninth reached first on a disputed call by an umpire, and the Royals then went on to score twice to win, 2-1. Game No. 7 was no contest--it went to the Royals, 11-0.

1987 After coming back from a 3-2 deficit to win the National League Championship Series against San Francisco, the Cardinals got off to a slow start by dropping their first two games of the World Series at Minnesota. Upon returning to Busch Stadium for game #3, the Redbirds used a three-run seventh and strong pitching by John Tudor to cut the deficit to 2-1. The next night saw utility infielder Tom Lawless, who was filling in for the injured Terry Pendleton, lead the Cards to a 7-2 win with a three-run homer in the fourth. The round-tripper by Lawless was just the second of his major league career and it evened the series at 2-2. The Cardinals completed their sweep at home with a 4-2 win in Game #5, as both Vince Coleman and Ozzie Smith each stole two bases. Todd Worrell earned his second save of the Series in relief of winner Danny Cox. The Cardinals took a 5-2 lead into the 5th inning of Game #6, but homers by Don Baylor and Kent Hrbek carried the Twins to a 11-5 come-from-behind win and sent the Series to a seventh and deciding game. Series MVP Frank Viola allowed only two runs in the second inning and the Twins Greg Gagne broke a 2-2 tie with an infield single in the 6th inning, as Minnesota won its' first World Championship with a 4-2 win in Game #7. The Series was the first ever in which the home team won each of the seven games.

1954 Musial hit five home runs in a doubleheader against the Giants at Busch Stadium on May 2.

1957 Musial established a National League endurance record when he extended his streak of consecutive games played to 895 before an injury forced him to the bench. The mishap occurred at Philadelphia on August 22 when he tore a muscle and chipped a bone in his shoulder blade as he swung and missed a high, outside pitch. He won the batting title with a .351 average.

1958 Musial, pinch-hitting in the sixth inning, collected a double against the Cubs at Wrigley Field in Chicago on May 13, and that dramatic blow was the 3,000th hit of his career.

1962 Musial, nearing his 42nd birthday, made a solid bid for his eighth batting title as he hit .330, but Tommy Davis of the Los Angeles Dodgers won the crown with a .346 mark.

1963 Musial, who won seven National League batting titles in his 22-year career with the Cardinals and had a lifetime average of .331, announced his retirement. His famous No. 6 became the first Cardinal number to be retired.

1966 The Cardinals closed old Busch Stadium on May 8 with a 10-5 loss to the San Francisco Giants. On May 12, they opened the new Busch Memorial Stadium in downtown St. Louis by defeating the Atlanta Braves, 4-3, in 12 innings. The winning run scored when Lou Brock singled with the bases loaded, driving in Curt Flood. The winning pitcher was Don Dennis, the loser Phil Niekro. Mike Shannon got the first Cardinal hit, a first inning single and Atlanta's Felipe Alou hit two home runs. Cardinals hosted this year's All-Star game at the new park.

1967 Home paid attendance went over the two million mark for the first time.

1968 Bob Gibson had a 22-9 record, hurled 13 shutouts, had a 15-game winning streak and allowed only 38 earned runs in 304 innings for an ERA of 1.12, a major league record for a pitcher who worked more than 300 innings. He set a World Series strikeout record with 17 in the first game against Detroit. His remarkable season earned him the National League's Cy Young Award and he was also named MVP.

1969 On September 15, Steve Carlton struck out 19 New York Mets in a nine inning game to set a major league record. He lost the game, 4-3, as Ron Swoboda hit a pair of two -run homers. He struck out at least one man in every inning and fanned the side in four different innings. His record was tied in 1970 by New York's Tom Seaver. The surface at Busch Stadium is changed from grass to artificial turf.

1970 Gibson had a 23-7 record and received his second National League Cy Young Award.

1971 Torre wins batting title with .363 average and is named MVP. Gibson pitches his first no-hitter, beating the Pirates, 11-0, on August 14. Schoendienst establishes longevity record for Cardinal managers, completing his seventh season. Brock became first major league player to steal 50 or more bases in seven consecutive years.

The Cardinals draw more than 1,800,000, the third highest home attendance in their history. Red Birds and Mets play 25 inning game, the longest night game in major league history and the longest game ever played to conclusion. Cardinals win as Bake McBride scores from first on two errors. 1976 John Denny wins National League ERA title at age 23, tying youngest right-hander to win ERA title in N.L. Lou Brock gets 2700th hit of his career and closes to within 27 of tying Ty Cobb's stolen base record.

1977 Lou Brock breaks Ty Cobb's career stolen base mark with number 893 in San Diego, August 29. Garry Templeton becomes youngest M.L. shortstop ever to gather 200 hits in a season. Templeton leads majors with 18 triples, highest number since 1957. Ted Simmons sets club record for home runs by a catcher with 21. Ken Reitz sets new fielding record with N.L. third baseman by committing only 9 errors. Bob Forsch wins 20 games.

1979 Lou Brock collected his 3000th career hit (single off Dennis Lamp) in the 4th inning against the Cubs on August 13 at Busch Stadium. On September 23, Brock stole his 938th base making him baseball's all-time stolen base leader surpassing William (Sliding Billy) Hamilton. Keith Hernandez wins batting title with .344 average and is co-winner of National League M.V.P. award with Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell. Garry Templeton led N.L. with 211 hits. Templeton also led the league in triples with 19, for the third year in a row, setting a new N.L. record and tying the major league mark. His 19 triples are highest number since 1957. He became the first switch-hitter in major league history to collect 100 hits, both right and left-handed, in one season. Garry finished with 100 hits RH and 111 hits LH. Ted Simmons hit a career high 26 home runs, which also set a club record for homers by a catcher.

1980 Ken Reitz sets new fielding record for N.L. third baseman by committing only 8 errors. Dane Iorg has 7 RBI's, August 28 vs. Atlanta. Manager Ken Boyer dismissed June 8. Whitey Herzog becomes Cardinal manager June 9. On August 18, John Claiborne fired as G.M. and Herzog named G.M. on August 29. Red Schoendienst served as interim manager for balance of season. On October 24, Herzog assumed dual role of general manager and field manager.

1981 The Cardinals finished the season with the best winning percentage in the Eastern Division, but missed the playoffs because they finished second in each of the two sections of the schedule caused by the mid-summer players' strike. The Philadelphia Phillies, leaders when the strike began, were voted the first-half championship (however, the Phillies, Cardinals, and Cincinnati Reds voted against it), while Montreal won the second half. In each half, the Cardinals played fewer games than the "winners", and could have tied or won either half with the opportunity to play the same number of games. In the individual field, Bruce Sutter, one of several players obtained in winter trades by Herzog, was the National League's top reliever, winning the Rolaids Relief Man award.

1982 In order to concentrate more on his managing duties, Whitey Herzog stepped down as General Manager on Opening Day, turning the reins over to Joe McDonald. The move paid off as the Cardinals were out of first place for only 48 days of the season and claimed their first ever National League East Championship. A 3-0 sweep of the Atlanta Braves put the Cards in their 13th World Series against the Milwaukee Brewers who fell 4-3 to St. Louis in the 'Fall Classic.' The 1982 team was characterized by an aggressive running style of baseball; seven players stole bases in the double figures, led by team catalyst Lonnie Smith who swiped 68. The team hit only 67 home runs, the fewest in the major leagues. Strong and consistent pitching performances were the rule; prior to clinching the title the Cardinals never lost more than three games in a row. Bruce Sutter had a hand in almost half of the team's victories.

1983 Despite the fact that the 1983 Cardinals finished in fourth place, eleven games out, the team was competitive and exciting, although inconsistent, throughout much of the season. The team climbed to within game of the division lead on September 5 before embarking on a thirteen-day road trip during which the failure of the starting rotation caused the team to plummet out of contention. Still there were noteworthy performances during the year. As a team, the running Redbirds set a new club record with 207 stolen bases. Individually, Danny Cox made his way from extended spring training in April to playing a part in the Cardinals' starting rotation. Bob Forsch pitched the second no-hitter of his career. The league's best right-fielder, George Hendrick, moved to first base after Keith Hernandez was traded and earned post -season honors at his new position. Ozzie Smith won his fourth straight Gold Glove and Willie McGee won his first one.

1984 The Cardinals got off to a bad start in 1984 and dwelled in fifth place for much of the first half of the season before turning things around after the All-Star break. Following the mid-summer classic the Cards posted a 42-33 record, second in the National League only to the eventual N.L. Champions, the Chicago Cubs. That surge lifted the Cards into a third place finish in the division at year end despite contending with many injuries...The team's 220 stolen bases set a new club record, surpassing the 207 mark from 1983, and made them the first major league team since the 1916 St. Louis Browns to steal 200 or more bases three years in a row...Individually, Bruce Sutter set a National League and tied the major league record for saves in a season (45). Joaquin Andujar (20-14) became the club's first 20-game winner in seven seasons. Rookie Terry Pendleton hit .324 after joining the club in July and sparking the team to a 41-29 record... The Cards drew over 2,000,000 fans for the third consecutive year.

1985 The Cardinals lost their first four games, struggled to 7-7, then lost four more. The next time they reached .500 it was at 20-20, and then things got better. They finally made it to first place on June 21, and they were there most of the season. Five defeats in six games early in September left the Cardinals a game behind the New York Mets with 25 to play. But the Redbirds then won 14 of their next 15 and took the division title by three games with 101 victories. Individually, Willie McGee was the batting champion (at .353, a new high for a N.L. switch-hitter) and Most Valuable Player; Vince Coleman was Rookie of the Year, and John Tudor and Joaquin Andujar each won 21 games and Danny Cox took 18. Willie McGee and Ozzie Smith won Gold Gloves again, and great starts by Tommy Herr (110 RBI) and Jack Clark (22 homers) contributed.

1986 The defending National League Champions stumbled at the beginning of the season. After the first two months of the season the Cardinals had the worst record in the League. But the team righted itself posting winning records in each of the next four months to finish third in the National League's Eastern Division...Individually Vince Coleman stole 107 bases to become the first player ever to steal over 100 bases in each of his first two seasons and the first N.L. player to ever steal 100 bases twice; left-handed rookie pitcher Greg Mathews, who was promoted from Louisville, won 11 games in little more than half a season; Ozzie Smith won his seventh straight gold glove and Todd Worrell was named 1986 N.L. Rookie of the Year. Worrell blazed his way to a major league rookie record 36 saves, becoming the first rookie pitcher ever to lead the league in saves and the first rookie to earn N.L. Relief Pitcher of the Year honor...Three attendance milestones were hit and surpassed during the course of the season. The Cardinals reached the two million mark for the fifth consecutive year, drew the 75 millionth fan in the history of the franchise since 1900 and drew the 50 millionth fan to see the Redbirds play under Anheuser-Busch ownership.

1987 Sparked by a potent offense, the Cardinals slipped no further than two games back in the N.L. East standings and claimed sole possession of first place on May 22. Beset by injuries to several key players throughout the season, manager Whitey Herzog made use of a mixture of experienced veterans and eager rookies to fill the voids left by injury. The Cardinals extended their lead to 9 games on July 23 but saw the lead shrink to 1 games as late as Sept. 19. A come-from-behind win at New York on Sept. 11 followed by a doubleheader sweep of the Expos on Sept. 29, set the stage for the pennant clinching win over Montreal on Oct. 1. Several Cards enjoyed banner seasons offensively, including Vince Coleman (third straight season with 100 SB), Jack Clark (35 HR and 106 RBI), Ozzie Smith (.300 BA for first time in his career), Terry Pendleton (.286 BA and 96 RBI), Willie McGee (105 RBI). The Redbirds had four starters with 10 or more victories (John Tudor, Bob Forsch, Greg Mathews and Danny Cox) while rookie Joe Magrane showed much promise in his initial season. In the bullpen, Todd Worrell followed up his impressive rookie season with 33 saves and Ken Dayley overcame serious elbow surgery to post nine wins in relief...1987 was a fantastic year at the gate as well, as the Cardinals drew a Major League leading 3,072,122 fans, becoming just the third club in M.L. history to surpass the three million mark in attendance.

1988 The defending National League Champions struggled with injuries and a lack of offense in the early part of the season and were never able to rebound. After acquiring Tom Brunansky in an April trade with Minnesota, the Redbirds climbed back to within six games of first on June 12, but injuries to Bob Horner and Terry Pendleton crippled the offense and the Cardinals dropped 9 games off the pace by the end of July. Several Rebirds enjoyed fine seasons in 1988, including newcomer Jose DeLeon, who became the first Cards pitcher since 1972 to record 200 strikeouts. Sophomore hurler Joe Magrane won the N.L. ERA title with a 2.18 mark despite winning just 15 games. Todd Worrell posted his third-straight 30-save season and speedster Vince Coleman led the league in stolen bases for the 4th straight year. The '88 campaign also marked the emergence of Scott Terry, Tom Pagnozzi and Jose Oquendo as prominent everyday players, while rookie reliever John Costello proved valuable out of the bullpen. Oquendo became the first N.L. player since 1918 to play all nine positions in a season and became the club's regular second baseman mid-way thru the season. Trades that brought such names a Pedro Guerrero, Denny Walling and Brunansky to St. Louis also ended long-time affiliations with departed players Tom Herr, Bob Forsch and John Tudor. The turnstyle continued to click in '88, as the Cardinals drew nearly 2.9 million fans to Busch Stadium despite their 5th place finish.

1989 Although the season outlook was dismal due to injuries that crippled the Cardinal pitching staff in spring training, Herzog's club remained in the race until the final week of the season. The Redbirds pulled to within a half game of the division leading Chicago Cubs after winning a dramatic come-from-behind game on September 9, however an untimely 6-game losing streak followed that win and the Cards sunk to third place on the final day of the season. The Cards suffered through an erratic season offensively, however Mr. RBI - Pedro Guerrero - was spectacular. Guerrero led the club in RBI (117) and BA (.311), and batted a remarkable .406 with runners in scoring position. Jose Oquendo and Milt Thompson had fine seasons with the bat, each setting several personal career highs. Vince Coleman again led the N.L. in stolen bases, and established a major league record for consecutive stolen bases without being caught. The pitching staff, which was of great concern at the outset, enjoyed a fine season. Joe Magrane (18 wins) and Jose DeLeon (16) spearheaded the patched-up starting unit, while rookie Ken Hill showed promise after being pressed into duty following the rash of injuries. The bullpen by committee was again at work as Ken Dayley, Frank DiPino, John Costello and Dan Quisenberry filled in for the injured Todd Worrell. The Cardinals set a new club attendance record attracting 3,080,980 fans during a season that ended on a sad note when long-time club president August A. Busch, Jr. died at the age of 90, ending an era that St. Louis fans would never forget.

1990 The Cardinals suffered through hard times during the decade's initial season. Thought by many to be a contender following the spring training "lockout", the Cardinals never matched those expectations and finished in last place for the first time since 1918. Untimely hitting and the lack of consistent pitching doomed the Cardinals from the outset and on July 5 Manager Whitey Herzog announced his resignation after more that 10 years as the Cards' skipper. Red Schoendienst managed the club on an interim basis until August 2, when Joe Torre was named the Redbirds' new manager. Willie McGee led the league in batting (.335), but was traded in late August, as the Cardinals made a move to bring aboard younger players. One of those rookies was catcher Todd Zeile. He led the Cardinals in homers (15). John Tudor, making a comeback from various injuries, led the club in wins (12), but announced his retirement following the season. Vince Coleman led the National League in steals for the 6th consecutive season and posted a career high .292 batting average. Starting pitchers Jose DeLeon (league-high 19 losses) and Joe Magrane (17 losses) were disappointments, however, reliever Lee Smith (27 saves) was a steady closer following his acquisition in May. Jose Oquendo set a Major League record for fewest errors by a second baseman, but the Cardinals' overall defense suffered many lapses throughout the season. Season attendance and fan support was still remarkable, as the Cardinals finished 3rd in the National League attendance rankings, despite the club's poor showing.

1991 The Cardinals were one of baseball's biggest surprises in 1991, moving up to second place in the National League East, after finishing in last the previous year. Manager Joe Torre, in his first full season as the Redbirds' skipper, opened the year with several unproven players in key roles, but before long they proved that they were, indeed, a team to contend with. Among the young standouts were outfielders Ray Lankford and Felix Jose. Lankford led the majors in triples and paced the Cards' running game with a team-high 44 steals. The Cardinals had 9 players with 10 or more stolen bases, the first time since 1917 that such a feat had been accomplished. Jose, playing his first full season in the National League, led the Cardinals in batting (.305) while also filling Busch Stadium's spacious gaps with numerous (40) doubles. Sophomore Todd Zeile made a fine transition from catcher to third base, leading the club in homers (11) and RBI (81). Tom Pagnozzi, seeing his first full-time duty behind the plate, earned a Gold Glove award for his defensive excellence. The 1991 season was also a good year for Cardinals name Smith. Lee Smith set a National League record for saves (47) and became just the fifth player to reach the 300 mark for career saves. Ozzie Smith continued to carve his name in Cardinals' annals, setting a National League record for the fewest errors, while also earning his 12th Gold Glove award. Bryn Smith led the pitching staff in wins (12) and recorded his 100th career victory. The pitching staff, which was without the services of Joe Magrane, Frank DiPino and Todd Worrell due to injuries, was bolstered by the young arms of Ken Hill (11 wins), Omar Olivares (11 wins) and reliever Cris Carpenter (10 wins). The turn-around performance of Milt Thompson, along with key contributions by Gerald Perry, Geronimo Pena and Craig Wilson, allowed the Cardinals to stage several late-inning heroics throughout the season. Following the season, work began to move in the outfield walls and replace Busch Stadium's artificial turf with a new playing surface.

1992 After losing three players to injury in the season's first week, manager Joe Torre might have wondered whether or not he'd have enough players to complete the Cardinals' centennial season. However, the Cards held a slim 1/2-game lead after the first two months of the season, thanks in large part to the offensive contributions of Felix Jose and rookie outfielder Brian Jordan and the pitching of Bob Tewksbury and rookie starter Donovan Osborne. The injury situation began to take its toll however, as the Redbirds were forced to use seven different players at second base. Chicken pox felled shortstop Ozzie Smith for two weeks in late June and nagging injuries to Omar Olivares and Rheal Cormier bit into the depth of the club's starting pitching. Ray Lankford, upon being moved from the lead-off spot to the #3 position in the lineup, stepped up his performance and became the first Cardinal since 1967 to hit 20 homers and steal 20 bases. Ozzie Smith tied Jose for the team lead in batting and stole a team-high 43 bases. The "Wizard", who earned his 12th All-Star berth and 13th Gold Glove award, also obtained many personal milestones, including his 2,000th hit and 500th career stolen base. Tewksbury emerged as the club's #1 starter, winning 16 games and ranking 2nd in the majors with his 2.16 ERA. The veteran pitcher allowed just 20 walks while earning selection to the NL All-Star squad. Also earning All-Star honors were catcher Tom Pagnozzi, who tied a league mark with his .999 fielding pct. and reliever Lee Smith, who led the league in saves (43) for the 2nd-straight season. Smith drew help in the bullpen from Todd Worrell, who, after having been out for two years due to injury, bounced back and moved into the top spot on the Cards' all-time save list. A season-long slump by Todd Zeile was damaging, but the consistent play of Bernard Gilkey was a pleasant addition. A major league record 16-game errorless streak in August helped the Redbirds establish a club record for fielding (.985). On the down side, the club rewrote the team records for strikeouts and caught stealing in a season. Moving the fences in proved beneficial, as the Cards out-homered their opponents 55-52 at Busch Stadium, with the 55 homers representing a Busch Stadium season-high.

1993 Even though they got off to a 7-2 start, the Cardinals struggled all year to stay within reach of the front-running Phillies. After falling 11-1/2 games off the pace by mid-June, the Redbirds fashioned a 8-2 roadtrip during the latter part of the month, lifting their June mark to 20-7 while they climbed to within 5-1/2 games of the Phillies by July 1. Mid-season injuries to relievers Mike Perez, Les Lancaster and Paul Kilgus put the pitching staff on skids and by late August the Cards had fallen 10 games back. Offensively, the Cardinals enjoyed one of their best seasons in recent memory, totaling 118 home runs, their highest total in 30 years. Several players enjoyed banner seasons offensively. Newcomer Gregg Jefferies (.342 BA) finished 3rd in the NL batting race, while Mark Whiten cracked a team-high 25 home runs, along with 99 RBI. Jefferies also swiped a career-high 46 bases, the most ever by a Cards' first baseman. Todd Zeile produced one of the top 2nd-half performances in the majors (60 RBI) and finished with a team-high 103 RBI after settling into the clean-up role. Bernard Gilkey enjoyed a break-through season, leading the club in hits, x-base hits and runs scored. Ozzie Smith recorded his 16th-straight 20-steal season and passed Larry Bowa to become the NL's all-time games played leader among shortstops. Injuries slowed Ray Lankford, Brian Jordan and Tom Pagnozzi and the second base debate continued with Luis Alicea, Geroimo Pena and a hobbled Jose Oquendo sharing time. Veteran Gerald Perry and rookie Rod Brewer gave the Cardinals a solid bench. Perry tied the club record with 24 pinch-hits. The Redbirds struggled with consistency in the pitching ranks for much of the season, however veteran Bob Tewksbury led the staff with a career-best 17 wins and continued to exhibit pin-point control (20 walks/213.2 IP). Cuban rookie Rene Arocha finished second on the staff in wins (11) although he missed nearly a month with a broken finger. A late-season shoulder injury that would later require surgery, left Donovan Osborne with 10 wins. Rookie Allen Watson won his first six decisions, then lost his last seven. Lee Smith became the major's all-time save leader in April and went on to establish a team record for career saves before being dealt to the New York Yankees in late August. The Cards slipped defensively, committing 159 errors. The '93 season marked the first year since 1977 that the team failed to place a member on the Rawling's Gold Glove team. Whiten made history during the club's September 7 double-header at Cincinnati when he stroked four home runs and drove home 12 runs in Game #2. He became just the second player to collect 12 RBI in a game and the 12th to hit four homers. Whiten also turned a rare feat on Sept. 14 when the switch-hitter homered from both sides of the plate.

CARDINALS' BROADCASTING — 1994

RADIO

KMOX-Radio, St. Louis, will once again be the flagship station for a network of approximately 135 stations covering eleven states, broadcasting all 1994 games with commentary by Jack Buck, Mike Shannon and Joe Buck.

TELEVISION

KPLR (Channel 11), St. Louis, will televise 60 Cardinal games locally, including 15 home games, and selected games will be fed to a network of approximately 35 stations covering seven states.

The PRIME NETWORK, Regional Cable, will televise 40 Cardinals games, including 14 home games and three spring training games. Commentary by Joe Buck and A| Hrabosky.

CARDINALS' BROADCASTERS

JACK BUCK

Jack Buck has kept baseball fans spellbound with his diction and quick wit since he joined the Cardinals' broadcasting team in 1954. Buck was paid the ultimate compliment for his skills in 1987, when he was inducted into the broadcast wing of Baseball's Hall of Fame as the Ford C. Frick Award winner. Buck was inducted into the Broadcaster's Hall of Fame in 1990.

The native of Holyoke, MA, who received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Ohio State, got his start in baseball broadcasting the play-by-play for St. Louis' minor league clubs at Columbus and Rochester.

Jack, KMOX's sports director, has been involved at one time or another in the broadcasting of almost every sports event imaginable. He has received much acclaim for his work as the voice of the National Football League and also handled the first telecast of the old American Football League.

MIKE SHANNON

Mike Shannon enters his 23rd season in the Cardinals' broadcast booth. His nine years as a Cardinal player and one year in the front office of the Redbirds give Mike a unique insight to his commentary and color, which is only heightened by his zeal for the game.

The 54-year-old native of St. Louis first made it to the big leagues in 1962 and went on to star on the Cardinals' World Championship teams of 1964 and 1967 and their National League pennant winner in 1968.

Mike joined the Cardinals front office as assistant director of promotions and sales in 1971. His career had been cut short in 1970 by nephritis, a rare kidney disease.

JOE BUCK

After having spent two season serving as the play-by-play voice of the Louisville Redbirds, Joe Buck, joined the Cardinals' radio team in 1991.

Joe, 24, handles play-by-play on Cardinals' television broadcasts for both KPLR and Prime. In 1989, Joe worked as a reporterfor ESPN during its coverage of the Triple-A All-Star game. Cardinals' broadcasts are nothing new to Joe. He often times filled in for Jack when he was away on assignment.

Joe is a graduate of Country Day High School in St. Louis, and he studied communications and English at Indiana University. He married the former Ann Archambault in January, 1993.

AL HRABOSKY

Al Hrabosky has made a smooth transition, going from one of St. Louis' best loved athletes as "the Mad Hungarian" of the Cardinals' bullpen of the 1970s to one fo the town's favorite broadcasters.

Hrabosky's fast rise in the broadcasting field comes as no surprise. During his 13-year major league career, which saw Al pile-up 97 career saves and earn Fireman of the Year honors in 1975, he was already preparing himself for broadcasting by working as a sportscaster for a St. Louis TV station.

BUSCH STADIUM

In the mid-1950s, several years after he persuaded the board of directors of Anheuser -Busch to purchase the St. Louis Cardinals, August A. Busch, Jr. realized that if the team was to continue to prosper and attract the number of fans necessary to support a Major League Baseball team, it would be necessary to move the team to a new stadium in the St. Louis area.

Mr. Busch took his idea — a new stadium in downtown St. Louis — to city officials and civic leaders. Because of their interest in a major redevelopment of the downtown area and the realization that a new stadium could serve as a focal point of the project, work began to lay the groundwork for a stadium.

In 1964, ground was broke and on May 12, 1966, Busch Stadium, the home of the St. Louis Cardinals, officially opened with the Cardinals defeating the Atlanta Braves, 4-3, in a 12-inning game.

Looking back over the stadium's 28-year past, it is clear that Mr. Busch and others involved in the stadium project were accurate in anticipating a new stadium would spur a rebirth of downtown St. Louis.

Since it opened, Busch Stadium became the focal point of an extensive redevelopment effort which has resulted in millions of dollars in new office buildings, hotels, shopping complexes, parking garages and other facilities, including the Bowling Hall of Fame and Museum.

Busch Stadium is owned and operated by Civic Center Corporation, a subsidiary of Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc. Anheuser-Busch was originally the single largest contributor to the privately-financed stadium and purchased the remaining share of stock in 1981.

Since the Cardinals defeated the Braves in that first game, more than 54 million people have attended 2,165 games at Busch Stadium (through 1993).

Civic Center Corporation has made a number of improvements to Busch Stadium since it was acquired in 1981, improvements intended to add to the entertainment experience of fans attending Cardinals' baseball games.

Some of the more recent improvements were the installation of a state-of-the-art sound system and a new large screen video display, a Diamond Vision MARK III High Contrast system by Mitsubishi Electronics that was installed in 1993. Other improvements that have been made include the replacement of the seats, installation of a closed circuit television monitoring system which permits fans to watch the action while visiting the concession stands, a new metal halide lighting system, expansion of the deluxe boxes and the addition of new concession stands as well as the renovation of the existing stands.

Busch Stadium's basic structure is concrete with the exception of the moveable seating sections, which are steel. The nearly circular structure has an outside diameter of more than 800 feet, covering an area of more than 12 acres.

Busch Stadium is basically a two-deck stadium with approximately half the seats in each deck. Seats completely surround the playing field with no posts or columns to obscure the fans' view.

The playing field at Busch Stadium is from 10 to 30 feet lower than the surrounding streets. Spectators move from the entrance level either up or down to the seating areas. There are eight major entrances.

Major League and National Association clubs meet once a year for the purpose of drafting free agent player talent. Meetings are conducted by conference phone. Selection of a free agent entitles the club to exclusive right of negotiation with that player from the date of selection until 10 days prior to next draft. Clubs choose in inverse order of major league standings, selecting free agents and previous draftees who had not signed contracts but had instead enrolled in four -year colleges and since had either completed his junior year or become 21 years of age. Each organization may select only one player for each of its major league, AAA or AA rosters, but is not limited to the number of picks for "A" level. Minor league clubs select in the same relative order as their parent clubs.

MIKE JORGENSEN
DIRECTOR OF PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

Mike Jorgensen was named the Cardinals' Director of Player Development on February 5, 1992, following Ted Simmon's appointment as General Manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Jorgensen served as the club's minor league hitting instructor/coordinator from 1990-91. He managed the Cards' triple-A Louisville club from 1987-89 prior to being named minor league hitting instructor.

Jorgy ended his 15-plus year major league playing career at the end of the 1985 season and was immediately taken on as an instructor in the Cardinals' minor league organization. Midway into the 1986 season, he was named manager at St. Petersburg when Dave Bialas moved up from St. Pete to Louisville to replace Jim Fregosi, who was named manager of the Chicago White Sox. Jorgensen finished out the season at St. Petersburg, where the team finished with the best record in the Florida State League at 88-48.

A lefthanded hitting first baseman-outfielder, Jorgensen was signed originally by the New York Mets out of the June, 1966, free agent draft. He made it to the big leagues with the Mets briefly in 1968 and came up to the majors to stay in 1971. He was traded to the Montreal Expos in 1972 and spent five-plus seasons there. Then he went to the Oakland A's in 1977, to the Texas Rangers in 1978, back to the Mets in 1980, to the Atlanta Braves in 1983 and to the Cardinals in 1984 in a deal with pitcher Ken Dayley in exchange for infielder Ken Oberkfell.

Jorgensen, born August 16, 1948, in Passaic, NJ, and his wife, the former Brenda Rice (10-24-70), and three children — Brian Michael (9-30-73), Kristen Leigh (7-7-75) and Eric James (4-7-81) — live in St. Louis.
